

I will present a new model for the algorithmic study of dynamic distributed systems and demonstrate its usefulness with some simple examples.